To the Reader.

THE events of different reigns may be regularly ſeen, by turning to the reſpective kings, one after the other.

With reſpect to the dates, no notice is taken of the Old Stile, but they are regulated according to the New Stile; thus January 174½, is called January 1742.

As to ages, this rule is obſerved; if a perſon at his death had entered only his 40th year, he is recorded to have died, aged 39.

The time in which ſuch writers lived, as were biſhops, if not found in alphabetical order, may be ſeen by turning to the liſt of biſhops.

Dr. Trusler will be very thankful for any corrections, additions, or amendments left with Mr. Morley, as he wishes to make this work as perfect as possible.

Just published, A Second Edition, (Price 4d.) of REMARKS on the SERVICE of the CHURCH of ENGLAND,
With directions for our behaviour there.

This little treatise is written by a dignitary of the church of England; is a work that has been much wanted, to form the minds and regulate the conduct of youth, is what all ranks and ages of people should read, and is drawn up with that elegance and propriety as will give pleasure to every reader.

It has been found, of all books, the very best to give away among the poor; allowance is therefore made to those who buy a quantity.

Also, (Price 1s.) pasted in marble paper, and contrived to lay in a pocket-book;
The GENTLEMAN's POCKET-FARRIER.

Shewing how to use your horse on a journey, and what remedies are proper for common misfortunes, that may befal him on the road.

This little tract has been in great estimation for these fifty years past, and has gone through many editions in IRELAND. No person that values his horse, should be without this book in his pocket, especially on the road. The remedies it prescribes are simple, and easily obtained, and such as never fail of a cure, where the disorder is curable.

The COUNTRY ELECTION, a Farce. (Pr. 1s.)

This piece was designed for the stage, but suppressed. In it all the business and intrigues of an election are set forth.

The GARRAT ELECTION, (Price 1s.)

Containing an exact account of the last election at Garrat, with a full account of the different processions, the candidates's speeches, and addresses, and the humourous oath administered to the voters.

Taken by a person upon the spot.

They may be had of A. Morley, St. Clement's Church-Yard, in the Strand, London, and all booksellers and news-carriers, in town and country.
